Fake Risk Escaping through the Empowerment of YOUth

FREEYOU Project

We are pleased to share with you some updates on the FREEYOU project. FREEYOU - Fake Risk Escaping through the Empowerment of YOUth, a European Project co-funded by the European Commission in the call Media Literacy for all. This project aims at spreading among youngsters information and awareness in order to make them more conscious of the veracity of information they get.

Since the last newsletter, after the selection of Facilitators from each partner country, they participated in an online training during the months of January and February in order to be familiarized with the platform and the contents and be able to bring the training to the youngsters from 13 to 30 years old.

About the training

There is a Moodle platform where the contents and activities are available.

The contents are in 5 different languages and per language the following training sessions:

1. Introduction - dealing with the term Fake News and its background
2. Fact checking - who is behind the information, what is the evidence and what do other sources say
3. Meme - its definition, formats and uses
4. Artificial Intelligence - Synthetic media: definition, formats and technologies for detecting it

TYPES OF INFORMATION DISORDER

For each session, there is materials, videos, quizzes and exercises available. There is also the opportunity to join the FREEYOU international facilitator community and the discussion forum; a place where it is possible to exchange ideas, tips, and materials.

Next Steps

The platform is a pilot in the process of being finalized and will be definitively released on June 30th. If you want to access and explore the contents send an e-mail to info@freeyouproject.eu and we will send you the login credentials.
